A DELIGHTFUL PICTURE.

That our citizens may not be in ignorance of what is said of us and our city abroad, we copy at length, from the columns of the Beloit Journal, the following enchanting picture of a Sabbath spent in the "Garden City" and its suburbs. Should any of our readers, in perusing the article, recognize their own portrait, and "see themselves as others see them," we sincerely hope they will not blame the artist for the accuracy of the picture he has drawn.

We would merely ask, in this connection, if it would not be a charitable and christian deed to donate some portion of the $7,000, which is to be raised to erect a monument to the noble Norwegian boy who "chose to die rather than to steal," to the maintenance of a Home Missionary Society, whose duty shall be to go forth into the heathendom which surrounds us, and convert from the error of their ways, these Messrs. Pimp, Pumps, Guzzle, and Prime, who spend their leisure hours in such, to say the least, unprofitable amusements

[Correspondence of the Journal.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 5, 1853.

GENTLEMEN:

Were you ever in Chicago on a Sabbath day? Perhaps you were not. Sunday in this city is not like the Sundays in the Eastern cities and towns. Sunday there is emphatically a day of rest, and is considered by all as a general thing to be the LORD's day, which is to be remembered and kept holy. Thanks be to almanac makers, we are permitted through them to know here when it is Sunday. One walking about in the immediate vicinity of business here on Sunday morning would know it was the Sabbath, for, as a general thing, the large stores are closed then, and he would notice that the bell rings at 10½ o'clock A. M., instead of 7 o'clock. Should a stranger visiting here wish to keep the Sabbath, he had better not venture too far from the centre of the city. If he should, he would soon lose his reckoning and be at a loss to tell whether it was Sunday or Monday. The Sunday fun commences about 12 M. Yesterday (Sunday) I thought to take a stroll about town and see the sights. Crossing Clark Street Bridge, I came immediately into the thickest of the good times! I counted forty-five drinking saloons. In fourteen of these in the vicinity of the bridge, men and women were playing cards, drinking and smoking, and carrying on at a high rate.—In six of the above I saw music and—do not start—dancing! Yes, dancing; I am quite sure it was dancing; come to think of it, it was dancing. The "light fantastic toe" was touched, the blushing damsel of forty summers, with cigar in her mouth, was led forward "by a young and hopeful clerk in the Bank of Young America," the quadrille was started, away they swam in the "mazes of the dance," scarcely touching the floor, so light and graceful did they move! Anon came a regular Jim Crow touch, heel and toe, double shuffle, and pigeon's wing, ending in one grand brake down, when the fair damsel was gallantly led up to the tempting bar, to take a gin toddy or a fresh cigar. If these thing happen in the heart of the city, what is going on in the outside? Come, and "we shall see what we shall see." The National Garden (or Dutch garden more commonly called,) is situated about 2½ miles south of the city. This garden occupies one whole square, or block, is surrounded by a rough board fence, and is filled up inside with verandahs, arbors, high-ways and by-ways. The garden part of it is wholly floral, and such flowers! A few sickly-looking sun flowers; here and there a pink, whose look seems to pine for fresh air; roses—no! roses would blush to be there; here and there a pale and wan-looking daisy rears its head, looks woeful and sad upon the sickly and disgusting sights which it is weekly compelled to see: these comprise the sum total of the floral garden. In the above named arbors are arranged seats and stands on which is liquor of different kinds, from camphine gin down to old pale brandy. On Sundays—no other day—these seats are filled with good citizens of Chicago, men and women, (or those that should be,) eating, drinking, and carousing. In one part of the garden is a dance house, and in it you can see the Schotische, Polka, Quadrille, &c., danced to fits any Sunday you may be pleased to go down. It is useless to say that scarcely a day passes but what a shameful row occurs at this place, and many a bit-off-nose and gouged eye will stand ready as a voucher before His Honor on Monday morning. Out side, in the vicinity of this garden, are located some "first class houses." Come in—whew! What a sickly and loathsome smell! They have just completed a dance—see them all up drinking—what a hard looking scapegrace that fellow behind the bar! His neck is done up. We may presume that some one of his customers, having been fleeced by him, has been expostulating for his lost funds, and hastily drawn a knife and made a pass at his windpipe. O, that is a common affair—very common. The company of ladies and gentlemen (?) have now faced about. You of course recognize at once a dozen bloated, blacked-eyed, pock marked, villainous prostitues. Seven eighths of them would cut your throat for five shillings—perhaps less. What young men are those that have been dancing with them? We recognize a young Mr. Pimp, a clerk in —— store, No. ——, Lake street; Mr. Pumps, Esq., clerk in —— Bank, Clark street, and Mr. Guzzle. Mr. Prime, he is among them. Why, Mr. Prime, you here? Well, what will a man not do for fun? There are two other houses of the same sort close by, and all sorts of disgusting scenes are enacted openly in broad daylight, within 2½ miles of the heart of the prosperous and beautiful city of Chicago on that

"Day of all the week the best,
Emblem of eternal rest."

Hard by is a race-course, and fast nags are put on to the turf on Sunday. Just round the corner is a pistol-gallery, and we hear the crack of the pistol distinctly—one ball sent home, and perhaps one soul lost.

Whose business it is to regulate these affairs is more than I can tell. Perhaps 'tis no one's.—What's the difference? This is "Young America" all about here, and who says that "Young America" shall not have a chance to swell? If six days are not enough, why, then we must have a seventh,—weeks must be manufactured expressly to accommodate these young men, who, not having the fear of the LORD on their side, and strongly tempted of the devil, become a prey to the wicked artifices of the bar and saloons.

It is needless to say that Chicago ought to be ashamed to have such abominable and disgusting scenes enacted in this city, and more especially on the Sabbath. D.

CULTIVATION OF THE VINE.—On the banks of the Ohio, the production of wine is yearly becoming a more important item. Mr. Longworth who first commenced the cultivation, after many years of loss, has succeeded in making a very good article, and one so acceptable to the public taste, that he has not been able to supply the demand.

He made in 1849, 2500 bottles of Champaign
1850, 14,000 "
1851, 40,000 "
1852, 60,000 "

And this year his crop will amount to 100,000 bottles. His orders reach upwards of 200,000 bottles.

Besides Mr Longworth, there is a society established, which is devoting large means to the production of wine, and its success thus far has been very encouraging. It is supposed that wine will become a very considerable item in the elements of our national wealth.

PERPETUAL THIRST.—Some years ago we gave a detailed account of the condition and appearance of a man who was then supposed to be the greatest drinker among men in America, if not on the globe. He is yet living in excellent health, at the age of 38 years, and still remains in a state of perpetual thirst. The individual alluded to, is James Webb, of Fairhaven, Mass. Under every aspect in which the case may be examined, it is remarkable, and perhaps unparalleled in the annals of physiology. In early infancy, the quantity of water he consumed was so large as to astonish those who witnessed it. A development in size and weight of the body required a corresponding increase in the quantity of his aquatic potations. Under ordinary circumstances, three gallons of water is rather short allowance for him, and it would be impossible, it seems, for him to live through a night with less than a pailful. With this amount of cold water daily poured into his stomach, Mr. Webb has been in good health and spirits. We leave the statement of these curious facts, unembarrassed by comment, and simply ask of leading editorial friends the probable cause of this unsatisfied thirst.—Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

THE MORMONS IN INDIA.—The Mormons are making an effort for the conversion of India to the creed of Joe Smith. Thirteen "ministers" have arrived there from the city of the Salt Lake, via California, and their "high priest" has induced one of the newspapers to publish his manifesto.

[illegible] — N. Y. Tribune.

Is not this going rather too far in the ultra adulation which in these latter days is paid to the "dear people," the "sovereigns" of the land? Is there "no such thing as political greatness?" Can great men only exist when their cotemporaries are imbecile, slavish and dependent?—Verily we have been otherwise instructed. We have been taught to regard one George Washington, as the greatest of all political heroes, and surely is it that the men of his day and generation, were very far from being weak, imbecile, and of a cringing disposition. Nor do we think that the age which was adorned with a Clay and Jackson, can justly be stigmatized as an epoch when the masses were idiotical, supine and debased. There are extremes in all things, and while we honor the hard fisted, great unwashed masses of our country, its bone and sinew, its life and strength, as much and as sincerely as Greely can do, we can see no necessity for running this respect into such fulsome hyperbole as is exhibited by the extract we have quoted.

We have no doubt, however, that it is a comforting reflection to aspiring men, who have brains enough to be conscious that they can never become distinguished, to say that the times of great men are passing away, inasmuch as they well know, that when the luminary of day has left the heavens, every two-penny candle will have an opportunity to display its flickering and feeble ray. Verbum Sap.

GEN. PILLOW AND CUBA.

At the late complimentary dinner given at Washington, to Mr. Stanton and Gen. Pillow, the latter gentlemen spoke as follows, in response to the toast offered by Mr. Douglass:

"Cuba, the weeping child of the seas—Are her woes forgotten; is the martyr blood of the gallant Crittenden and his brave followers to sink in an enslaved soil unavenged?"

Gentlemen: If the sentiment just offered, and received by you with so much enthusiasm, it is significantly asked: Are the "Woes of Cuba forgotten?" Is the blood of the gallant Crittenden and his followers to sink into an enslaved soil unavenged? And to this sentiment and to these questions I am called upon to respond. I will do so by asking you if man has ceased to love liberty; if those principles of eternal truth and justice which lay at the foundations of our free institutions cease to have an abiding place in the hearts of American freemen? Have men ceased to abhor tyranny and oppression? No, my countrymen! The woes of Cuba are not forgotten, and the blood of the noble martyrs to liberty who were butchered in violation of all the usages of civilized nations and of our treaties with Spain, cries aloud for revenge; and if I mistake not the "signs of the times," the time is not far distant when this nation will avenge it. It is the duty of our nation, not individuals. Events would seem to be rapidly inducing a necessity which will impel the Government, under the great law of self-preservation, to take this case in hand, to redress the woes of Cuba and to avenge the blood of our murdered sons. The President in his Inaugural solemnly pledges the good faith of the nation to the observance of our mutual relations and treaty obligations. It also contains warnings, admonishing our neighbors on the necessity of good faith and good neighborship on their part—a policy as essential to their independence as to our peace and safety.

If Spain regards not these pledges—if she heeds not this warning and allows herself to be placed in an attitude of hostility to our government and people—if she permits England to drive her into a system of Colonial policy, intended to Africanize Cuba—here will be the responsibility of the consequences which may follow such a state of things. The judgment of all civilized nations would absolve this Government from all treaty obligations, and would justify the seizure of the Island, be the consequences what they may! Let us, therefore, await the approach of the crisis already at hand. Who does not know that the blood shed at the Alamo, and at Goliad, was avenged—aye, thrice avenged, on the battlefield of Mexico? Who does not know that English policy hastened the annexation of Texas to the Union? Who does not see that the same influences which produced this result are now at work upon Spain, to coerce her into measures dangerous to our peace, and intended in their consequences, to distract our country, and possibly sunder the Union?—Sir, why is this? I will tell you. Our rapid growth in all the elements of national wealth and greatness is overflowing her, and will ere long, drive her commerce from the marts of the world,—while the influence of our free institutions is fast depopulating her territory, and she knows that she is attacking us in our weakest points. It is her strategy in diplomacy.

Indeed, a mad infatuation seems to have fastened itself upon the councils of England, which an overwhelming Providence is shaping to accomplish the end. If this policy is persisted in, Cuba must be seized. Cuba will be seized.—The Watchman is at his post, he will see the danger afar off. Trust your President. He will prove equal to any emergency. One blow by the strong arm of this Government will sunder the chains that now enslave Cuba.

Let us therefore, be patient, but let us be ready, and that too with energy, to stand by the Government, to uphold its power, and make its blows effectual. This done, and we shall no more hear of the woes of Cuba; but we shall hear the loud shouts of joyous freemen, reverberating through the mountains of the "Weeping Isle of the Seas," and we shall see another brilliant star added to the glorious constellation which now illumines the land of freedom. Such, gentlemen, are my views of Cuba, and the policy our Government should adopt in the approaching crisis; and though I know nothing of the views of the President upon the subject, except such as he utters in his Inaugural address, to the nation and the world, yet my reliance in his sagacity, wisdom and firmness, gives me full confidence as to the result of his future action.

Well, that will do. It is to the point—it is plain—it is emphatic. We can understand it. The General has dug his ditch on the out side of the fortification this time. It is all plain as a pike staff. "Cuba must be seized—Trust to our President." That's the doctrine. "He will prove equal to any emergency," and we, the people need not give ourselves any more concern about it. Mr. Pierce will do up the whole job.

Substitute for the Turn-Table.—Jos. Dunn, of Durham, England, is now exhibiting at the Crystal Palace, a model of Railroad track, car and switch, for reversing locomotives. The Scientific American describes it as having tracks, branching out from the main track at suitable distances from each other, meet in a single track, the length of a locomotive. The car passes out by one track, and returns by the other reversed. The switches are placed near each other, so that they may be operated by a single man, and are kept open for the main track, except when the reversing is made. This plan is new to many of our readers, and will readily recommend itself for simplicity and cheapness.

The Indiana State Convention of Universalists met at Danville, September 2d, and adjourned the 4th. Resolutions were passed (1) deprecating the evils of intemperance, and endorsing the Maine Liquor Law; (2) denouncing the death penalty, and requesting all ministers in fellowship to preach against it during the year; (3) approving and commending free common schools; (4) recommending special attention to Sunday Schools, &c.

Miss Lucy Stone.—This enterprising and indefatigable Champion of the rights of her sex is now delivering a course of lectures upon the subject which engrosses all her thoughts, at Newark, N. Y. She has met with great success; has large audiences, and is generally well received. Says one of her auditors, "I never felt such deep stirring of my innermost soul before. I never vowed so solemnly, before God, to try to be a Man, as when she was speaking. I never saw myself so little as to what I am and at the same time had such exalted feelings of what I should be, as she inspired within me. I never saw such beauty in truth and made such sacred resolves to live up to it, as at this lecture" And this was in substance, repeated and re-repeated, from tongue to tongue by all with whom I conversed."

The widow of Com. Perry resides in Providence. The Commodore died in 1820, in the West Indies. He was but 27 years old when he obtained his brilliant victory.

The New York Nominations.

The deed is done. The Rubicon is crossed, and the great Democratic Party of the Empire State is no more. Torn by internal dissensions, worn out by intestine broils, it gave up the ghost at Syracuse on the evening of the 15th inst. Peace to its ashes! May its blood not be required at the hands of its murderers and may its spectre not startle from their guilty sleep, the souls of its destroyers. Requiescat in pace.

There is no hope of a reconciliation. The split is complete. The party which so long prided itself upon its immortality is defunct, and its place is filled by two new factions, each of which have nominated a full State Ticket.—We give them below:

LET US HEAR THE LADIES.

The N. Y. Tribune is very much exercised in its mind on account of the rowdyism which disturbed the woman's rights Convention, of that city and prevented the fair speakers from being heard by the audiences which assembled to hear them. It has no confidence in the future good behavior of the Bowery Bhoys, if they attempt to renew the meeting in New York but thinks that the people of the country have better manners. It appeals "from the grogshops of our city to the upright, intelligent freemen of our country, asking them to give the women, who advocate an enlargement of the sphere usually assigned to their sex, a fair chance to be heard. They were denied here, but they can have it almost anywhere else if the lovers of free speech and fair pay will but insist on it.

Our system of winter evening Lyceum Lectures affords excellent opportunities for giving the advocates of Woman's Rights a hearing. There is not an opposer of the movement this day who can accurately state what the rights claimed for women are, nor on what grounds they are demanded. Simply as a matter of education, then, for the deriders and gainsayers of the movement, we urge that at least one lecture in behalf of the movement be heard before each Lyceum. It will be worth its cost merely to prevent the future utterance of absurd and calumnious falsehoods as to what are the rights contended for."—

In the immortal language of a Hoosier delegate to a county convention we once attended, we "move that that motion be seconded." Let us hear from the Woman's Rights women, with our own ears; let us see them with our own eyes, let us converse with them with our own lips, and then peradventure we may believe. It will be a new thing in the way of winter amusements; it will possess all the merit of novelty, and it will be a sure card.

The Tribune says that the ladies will come if they are asked to do so; they are bursting with a desire to do battle for their cause, and they will not fear to venture into Suckerdom. Again we say, let us hear from the Ladies, and we will be satisfied.

We give below the addresses of the principal Champions of the emancipation of women. Who will write to them?

Lucy Stone, West-Brookfield, Mass.
Antoinette L. Brown, South Buttler, Wayne Co. N. Y.
Elizabeth Oakes Smith, Brookly, N. Y.
Elizabeth C. Stanton, Senaca Falls, N. Y.
Paulina Wright Davis, Providence, R. I.
Mrs. C. I. H. Nichols, Battleboro, Vt.
Mrs. C. M. Severance, Cleveland, Ohio
Mrs. D. L. Rose, New York City.

Large Dividend.—The Experiment says that the dividend of the Toledo, Norwalk and Cleveland Railroad, from the time it was opened till the 1st inst., the period of going into effect of the consolidation—less than eight months—after deducting forty five per cent. for running expenses, will be between 19 and 20 per cent!

We believe this has already been exceeded by the Chicago and Galena Road, which has divided 22 per cent!

Destructive Fire at Dubuque, Iowa.—The Dubuque Tribune of the 14th says:

It is with sincere regret that we have to record the entire destruction by fire this morning of Mr. McClure's new block of frame stores, corner 7th and Main street; besides two small frame buildings opening on Main st., belonging to Mr. Ogilby. Mr. Peter Waples lost nearly his entire stock of furnishing goods which he had just opened in the corner building; his loss cannot be less than $10,000. We have not learned the cost of Mr. McClures' block, but it proves an entire loss, as he had no insurance.

Mr. Ogilby's loss will be almost 2,000. Mr. Waples' stock was insured for 5,000 and he secured probably 1,000. We sympathize most deeply with those gentlemen in their loss, and shall give further particulars, next week. The fire originated in the cellars of Mr. McClure's Block, and was doubtless the work of an incendiary. The alarm was given at 1 o'clock and by 2 the entire property was consumed.

The Port Huron and Grand Haven Railroad.—Last evening, Judge Hascall, chairman of the late Port Huron Convention, arrived in this city as a delegate from the Grand Canada Trunk R. R. Co., to make a note of the interest of this city in the enterprise, extending as it does from Port Huron in Canada, to Grand Haven, Michigan, the point on Lake Michigan due east of this city. Several of our citizens met him last evening, and furnished him with the required statistics. He came to Grand Haven with a number of other gentlemen; the remainder returned, their presence being indispensible at Port Huron on the 15th inst.

Judge Hascall states that the extension of the Canada Grand Trunk Railroad, from Port Sarnia to Grand Haven on Lake Michigan, will be finished within one year from the present date although the contract allows two years. The contracts are let to C. S. Gzowskie & Co., who have bound themselves to build the road in 5 ft. 6 inch gauge, with tubular bridges. Mr. Hascall states that 60,000 men are now at work on the Grand Trunk Line; 6,000 of whom are between Toronto and Port Sarnia. The engineer on that section is W. Stanley. On the line across Michigan are to be thirty engines, thirty-two passenger cars, 150 covered cars, 125 platform cars thirty-hand cars, five snow plows, and seven 45 feet turn tables. The engine tables and workshops necessary to maintain the above equipments, are also to be built by the contractors, and covered with roofs of metal or slate.

This news is of special interest to this State, and will hasten the various railroad enterprises centering at Milwaukee. The English company, from all indices, are determined upon dispatch.—Wisconsin of the 14th.

Mary Simondson, familiarly known as "Aunt Polly," who had arrived at the extreme age of one hundred and twenty six years, and who long had her residence in a neat little cottage near Shippensburgh, Pa. died suddenly last week.

Iowa Boys in California.—Mr. John Keiser, son of Mr. Keiser of this county, writes home to his father that he has some $61,000 in gold dust deposited with Page and Bacon at San Francisco, and that his brother also has a like amount—the result of some two years digging in California. The young men appear to be embarrassed, and have written to their father, who is independent in his circumstances, to know what to do with their money. They are still digging with undiminished success.—Burlington (Iowa) Tel.

Percussion Caps Superseded.—A new composition has lately been invented by Messrs. Winiwartier and Wersheim, of Vienna, for the purpose of superseding the ordinary percussion caps, and, in many instances, the gunpowder charge also. The most prominent features of these gun primers, as the composition is called, are the absence of a metallic coat or cover, and their uniform explosive power, the materials being of such a nature that, after a detonation, no residue whatever is left. The materials which form the new composition, are fulminating mercury, chlorate of potash, and sulphide of antimony, the dangerous properties of which ingredients are diminished by the application of collodion, which is used as a cement, and it is the ingenious employment of this substance that constitutes the peculiarity of the invention.—Scientific American.

THE SPLIT IN THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The whigs of the Empire State could have asked for no more gratifying result, than has crowned the devoted labors of the Syracuse Convention. Had those labors been prosecuted with the utmost good feeling; had the oil and water of the two factions been able to unite, by the aid of some hitherto unknown agency in political chemistry, and, as a consequence, a single ticket been put in nomination, none of us would have been materially frightened. In such case the victory would have been sufficiently easy: but it now becomes the merest sinecure. The opposite party is rent and divided; its garment lies in tatters; its concord is turned into revenge; the house is divided against itself, and cannot stand.

The time has come when politicians must also remember that they are men. Ball fights and rooster fights—snarling and howling—fits and bludgeons have had a place in the political arena long enough. Intelligence, discrimination, sober, deliberation, mingled with forbearance and comity, are what is needed in the councils of the State and Nation. We have had too many rows and outbreaks. We need the time spent in useless altercations, for close and earnest thought. It is a pity, for their own sakes, that our amiable friends at Syracuse were not convinced of this, and grounded upon it, before they commenced their conclave. We prophesy that their folly will end in the most magnificent defeat they have yet been called upon to endure. He who places himself upon the very track of the advancing locomotive, is pretty apt to receive a summary punishment.

The issue is different from our anticiptions, because we supposed that even if the usual belligerent mode of the party was restored to, there would be some great Æneas, who, from his lofty couch, would be able this time, to keep the rest in order. This supposition was founded upon the conviction that the Democratic party had counted the cost of the coming issue, and foreseen the determination to excel, and the sturdy arrangements in progress to that end, on the part of the Whigs throughout the whole State. Some of them have seen seen it, brooded over it; trembled over it; but as it has turned out, the point was absorbed in the more personal matters of the Convention. It will turn up again as a mammoth exclamation point, in the forthcoming history of the approximate contest.

We now have to deal with the ruins of a party, rather than the party itself. We are not compelled to fire at the fortress, but only at its ruins. We are to hit a head here, an arm there and a leg somewhere else, and the little life that remains will flow out in the shape of bad blood, attended by gasping imprecations. The enemy has removed the bushes from our path—bridged the rivers that lie in our course—provided us with arms, ammunition and provender—and all there is left for us to do, is to "go in and win." We will do it—tenderly, fraternally, but soberly and with the grace and dignity of conquerors.

If the Whigs of New York needed any admonition or warning in reference to their course in Convention, they have it here. Let their operations be the very antipodes of their illustrious predecessors, and the victory is as sure as the course of Tell's arrow.

AFFAIRS AT THE CAPITAL.

Washington, Monday, Sept. 12, 1853.

The Union, of to morrow will contain an authoritative paragraph touching the President's feeling about the Syracuse Convention, which I deem of sufficient importance to transmit entire and verbatim. It is as follows:

The New York Democratic State Convention.—This important body assembles this day at Syracuse, and the Democracy of the country will watch its proceedings with great interest. It will be deemed a matter of congratulation by all the friends of the Democratic cause if those proceedings shall result in harmonizing the unfortunate dissensions that now exist, and in rallying the united Democracy of the State in a victorious support of the national Democratic principles embodied in the Baltimore Platform and in the inaugural address, and illustrated in the policy of the Administration. In view of the many misrepresentations which have recently gone forth on the subject, we deem it proper to add our fully authorized assurance that to none will such a result be more gratifying than to the President and the members of his Cabinet.

Col. Benton made an argument of two hours, addressed to the Secretary of the Interior, today, on Chauvin's location of lands in Missouri. The Commissioner of the land Office decided against a change of location. Benton supported the change. Judge Bowline, council for the other side, was present, and will answer in a few days. "Old Bullion" was not offensive towards Bowlin, but there was no exchange of salutations.

Washington will be admirably represented in Syracuse, by Col. Forney, of the prospective Press; Beverly Tucker, of the Sentinel, and Col. Berret, City Postmaster.

The Secretary of the Navy, still delays, and probably will entirely decline, consummating the contract for the California dry dock.

Senator Slidell left to-day, en-route for Louisiana, via Wheeling. He has taken a lease of Col. Potter's house and purchased his funiture.

George M. Dallas is here. His name is mentioned in connection with the China mission.

Francis M. Gwin is apointed Postmaster at New Albany, Ind., vice Kent, reigned.

Dr. George Johnson is appointed Surveyor of the Marine Hospital at St. Louis, vice McDowell resigned.

Vermont Election.—The Burlington Free Press of the 9th inst., makes the Senate stand 16 Whigs, 9 Democrats, and 2 doubtful. To the House from 186 towns, 79 Whigs, 76 Democrats, and 14 Free Soil. In 17 towns there is no choice.

"The Whigs, as we are informed by our returns," says the Atlas, "have surely elected 16 Senators, (a majority,) and stand a good chance of having chosen 2 more. A clip from the office of the Woodstock Age, (Democrat,) says":

"We have received returns from 230 towns—all but 10 in the State—which are reported to have elected 88 Whigs, and 123 Democrats and Free Soilers. The number of the latter we cannot at this time determine, but our present returns indicate not far from 30. The 10 towns to hear from will not materially alter the complexion. The Senate is yet in doubt, but probably Whig by one or two majority."

Lafayette, Indiana, is said to be going down with a fearful rapidity—merchants bursting up, and a general scatterment taking place among the population. A large number of them have already found homes in Iowa, many of whom have settled in this place, and others in Mahaska county. We are also informed that when they heard that Keokuk was trying to form a connection with them, the remaining population were seized with a perfect panic and gave themselves up as lost beyond redemption. Lafayette was formerly one of the most flourishing young cities of the west.—Burlington. (Iowa) Tel.

An extra session of the Legislature of Maine has been called by Gov. Crosby, to meet at Augusta, on the 20th inst. The Commissioners chosen by the Legislature with authority to purchase the Massachusetts lands, have concluded a contract for this purchase. This must, by its terms, be ratified by the Legislature of Maine, on or before the 5th day of October next. The Legislature is called together with a view to this ratification. When it meets it is probable that renewed attempts will be made for the election of a United States Senator. It will be remembered that at the last session Hon. Wm. Pitt Fessenden was elected Senator on the part of the State Senate, but the House failed to concur with the selection. At one time, however, Mr. Fessenden wanted but three votes of an election, and as the executive appointments make several vacancies, which may be filled by Whigs, it is quite possible he may be chosen on the part of the House also, when it assembles.

Missing.—Last Sunday afternoon, a man by the name of Mark Rowe, took his gun and went out to shoot pigeons, since when he has not been seen. Search was made for him on Monday and Tuesday, but no traces of him were found. On Wednesday his clothes and gun were found, at the mouth of Popple Creek, where it empties into Fox River.

Mr. Rowe was a brick-maker, an Englishman by birth, and a sober, industrious man. The grief of his wife may be imagined, but is beyond our powers of discription. Hope has ceased to comfort her—and well it might—yet there is a possibility of his yet living.

Since the above was in type the body of the lost man has been found, floating in the river. The general supposition is, that he went into the river after game, and was accidentally drowned.—Elgin Palladium 15th inst.

Some negroes belonging to a bachelor gentleman not far from Paulding, Mississippi, amused themselves by blowing him up one night last week with a keg of gunpowder. He was projected through the roof, and fatally burnt.

The Paris correspondent of the Courier and Enquirer, mentions the death of the only son and heir of Marshal Davoust. One of the most brilliant names of the first Empire thus becomes extinct. With him expire the titles and dignities of Prince of Eckmuhl and Duke of Auerstaedt, which he inherited from his father. He died of a long and painful disease which has prevented his taking an active part in politics since the revolution of 1848. By the last arrival, intelligence has been received of the death of one of Marshal Davoust's companions in arms, General Motholon. Gen. M. followed the star of Napoleon from its arising on the sanguinary plains of Italy until it set on the rock of St. Helena. He was one of the most brilliant soldiers of the Empire and one of the few whose adhesion to the Emperor was not severed by Blucher's cannon at Waterloo.

Land in the Vicinity of St. Louis.

The following article from the St. Louis Republican represents a condition of things which Chicago is rapidly coming to. We commend it to the attention of those who are interested.

There is a very general desire to purchase small quantities of land in the vicinity of St. Louis—say from three to six miles, north, west and south. This desire is not confined to one class more than another, but is to be found among mechanics, merchants, professional men, manufacturers, and in general all who can afford to go into the country and breathe the fresh air, or who seek it as a means of lessening the expenses of a city life, now increasing every year. This has led many to buy and improve in the St. Louis and Carondelet Commons, in Stoddard's Tract, and wherever land could be had on the north. But it is a remarkable fact that this desire is likely soon to be restrained, if not checked altogether, by the condition and ownership of property around the city. Men who buy to get rid of the pent up air, and the smoke, and exhalation of the streets, do not want to buy by the foot, but they want a few acres—enough to put into pretty gardens, and to plant shade trees, and to contain all the conveniences which attach to a comfortable cottage in the country. They want a little elbow room—a space in which perfect privacy may be obtained—and fenced in from all intrusion. Lots sold by the foot will not furnish these advantages, and hence it is, that they must go out further, where they could obtain three or five or even ten acres, at reasonable prices. On the south, if an examination is made, it will be found that property is either held by the foot, or is already occupied in such quantities as we have named. This is particularly the case in the Common. Further off, the property is owned by rich men, in large quantities, and none of which is likely to be brought into market until death changes the ownership, and not then, if, as has been the fashion, it can be tied up by the last will and testament. To the west of the city, for three or four miles, the same objection applies. Rich men own the land, and that in large tracts, and nothing can induce them to sell so long as value is added to the ground every year, and the taxes are not enormous. And so it is with the north. They hold on to everything they get, and, as we have before remarked, the only change likely to be produced in possession, is to be brought about by death. Meanwhile, the hand of cultivation is stayed, and there is not the same improvement around St. Louis that ought to be found in the neighborhood of a city containing 100,000 inhabitants.

What is the result of all this? Our citizens have to go a little further out, but they are getting equally eligible property, at a less cost, and in just such quantities as they desire. The policy of the landlords places, as it were, a hiatus between them and the city, and the citizens are likely to profit by it. If they want three, or five, or ten acres, they can get it, and improve it as they please. They are creating pleasant neighborhoods, and avoiding all the excitements of the town. They do not have to pay so much for the lots, and can invest, if they choose, the difference in the houses and the improvements. They will by this means, put a belt of beautiful country seats around the town, within five or six miles distance, which will be the most desirable property to be found any where. The "Cote Brilliante" property already partakes of this character. It will be sold and settled, and improved long before the land immediately adjoining St. Louis changes hands. This is inevitable. So it will be with other property in the same range. We have, from the very nature of things, to go there to get a breathing space, and seeing the disposition of owners around the city, we do not hesitate about advising our citizens to do it. It is for their interest. With good roads, it is as convenient for them to live there as within two or three miles of the court house, or even nearer, and they can live infinitely cheaper. They can produce all they want, and have something to spare, and be healthier and happier, if pure air and all the comforts of life conduce to these results."

A New Book and a New Doctrine.—We learn that Rev. Edward Beecher, formerly President of Illinois College, and at present, pastor of the Salem Street Church, Boston, is about to publish a book entitled "The Conflict of Ages, or the Great Debate on the Moral Relations of God and Man." A correspondent of the Missouri Republican gives the following statement of the views advanced in this work:

"Dr. Beecher endeavors to establish the doctrine that the human race existed in an other state, before being placed in this world. In that state, they sinned, tempted from their obedience by Satan. To give them an opportunity to reflect and to redeem them from the consequences of their sin, God placed them in this world. The human race thus comes into being on earth, already sinfull. By this theory, the Doctor escapes the necessity of ascribing to God the creator of a race sinful by nature, and of course repudiates the so called "New School" views.

He fortifies his doctrine by a reference to old Jewish teachings—to Scripture, to the most eminent of the Fathers, and learned theologians of latter periods in the Church, and urges it with great force of reasoning pervaded throughout by a spirit of fervent piety.

The investigation of this subject has occupied his attention for more than twenty years, and the conclusions to which he has arrived, have been familiar to his personal friends for more than half that time.

In the publication of his work, he is animated by the hope of furnishing a common philosophical and scriptural ground, on which Christian men, heretofore, widely alienated and in conflict on the subject of man's depravity, may hereafter stand.

That this doctrine will rally round it any great number of believers seems scarcely likely. But the eminent character of the author, for intellectual power and logical ability, together with his acknowledged soundness in the fundamental doctrines of Scripture, and his zealous piety, tempered by a reasonable doctrine, will secure, for the work the attention of the best minds in the land."

Another Fugitive Slave Case.

Yesterday morning a gentleman from Maysville Kentucky, named Jeremiah S. Bellenger, when walking along the north side of Sixth st., just east of Plum, thought that he recognized in the proprietor of a new barber shop there, a slave that escaped from him some two years ago. In the afternoon Deputy United States Marshall Black, appeared at the barber shop and arrested the alledged fugitive, who goes by the name of Geo. Brown.

The negro thus arrested, was but little concerned, and walked to the Commissioner's office, on Third street, with a jovial air. He said that he knew he could prove that he was freeborn, and he could not, consequently, be in danger of losing his liberty. He laughed heartily at the idea of being called Moses, and, taken altogether, his actions idicated that he thought it rather funny than otherwise to be taken as a fugitive.

Mr. Ballenger said that if the boy was his, he wanted him, and if he was not his he did not want him. He had worked in the same shop for five years with the boy who had ran away from him; and this fellow arrested was, in every particular, like his boy, with the exception of his voice, and that he thought it not unlikely had changed, to some extent, in ten years. He was not absolutely positive, but if this George Brown and his Moses were not identical, there was between them the most remarkable resemblance that had ever come to his knowledge.

The alleged fugitive sent telegraphic despatches to his friends in various parts, to come and prove his free birth. The alarm spread among the blacks, and the Commissioner's office was soon full of them. One of them went up to Brown, and slapping him on the back, shouted "Hallo George; what are they doing with you here?"

"Why they say I'm a fugitive," was the reply, with a grin.

Brown claimed to have been born in Vincennes, and it was learned that Mr. Geo. J. Clark, from that place, who knew him well, was in the city. After a short delay Mr. Clark appeared, and expressed himself much surprised to see Brown, whom he had known from a small boy, under arrest. Clark, with the attorneys in the case—Col. Chambers for Mr. Ballenger and Judge Key for Brown—and Mr. Ballenger retired and had a private conversation. On returning, Col. Chambers announced that Clark's story was perfectly satisfactory. He was entirely positive as to his recollections and knowledge of Brown's birth and boyhood. Mr. Ballenger would not put his memory of anything ten years ago against Mr. Clark's certain knowledge.

Upon this the Commissioner announced that Geo. Brown, the alleged fugitive, was discharged.—Cincinnati Commercial, of the 14th.

Immense Haul of Stolen Goods.

Boston, Saturday, September 10.

The Journal of this afternoon learns that a large quantity of stolen goods were discovered last night in Concord, N. H., consisting of boots and shoes, sole leather, clothing and cloth, hard and hollow ware, fancy goods, &c.

Some of the goods have been recognized as stolen from stores in that vicinity, and the greater part from various cars and railroad depots. They were found in the house of Justice Squires, who has fled. Squires was pardoned out of the State Prison some four years ago.

It is estimated that $50,000 worth of goods has been stolen by Squires and his gang, one-tenth of which has been recovered.

Texas.—The Governor elect of this State is E. M. Pease, a native of Connecticut. If his name above gets printed Pierce, Pearse, or any thing else, (as it it has often been in these columns,) we beg our readers to believe that we know what it is, and would spell it right if our printers and proof-readers were willing.—N. Y. Tribune.

CINCINNATI, PERU, & CHICAGO RAILROAD

We understand that the corps of engineers who are surveying this road, are expected to reach La Porte during the present week, and that the line has been found an exceedingly favorable one from Peru North, excepting that there will be some rather heavy work for a short distance this side of Peru and at the Tippecanoe river. The balance of the line will be uncommonly easy of construction, and one of the cheapest roads in the United States. The work at the Tippecanoe river and at Peru is heavy only in comparison with the balance of the line.

We learn also that the stock subscriptions will be closed up immediately, and that Ezekiel Morrison and Willard A. Place have been appointed to appraise the lands offered in payment for stock. No lands will be taken except on their appraisal; and we think they are men who will be likely to do justice between the owners of the land and the Co. A very large amount of good lands have already been offered to the Company, but we understand that only a limited quantity, not exceeding $300,000 or $400,000 will be accepted in real estate, for the part of the Road north of Peru.

We learn that a favorable contract for a running connection, has been concluded with the Cincinnati Western Rail Road Co., whose road will terminate at New Castle. This road is built on the most direct possible line from Cincinnati to Cambridge City, where the Cincinnati, Peru and Chicago road will connect with it. The trains will run through from Cincinnatti to Chicago, by way of Cambridge City; Peru and La Porte, precisely as if the whole line were owned by one Company. And should a road at some day be built from Logansport to Chicago, the line by Cambridge City and La Porte will be shorter by some miles than that by Richmond and Logansport. Our line also has the great advantage of passing for the entire distance through one of the most fertile regions of the west; while the road from Logansport, if built, would run for a long distance through the swamps lands of Pulaski and Stark counties.

When we consider that the part of the La Porte line north of Peru is to be the northern and north-western extension of three great lines, that from Louisville via Columbus Ia., and Indianapolis to Peru, that from Columbus Ohio via Piqua to Peru, and the direct line from Cincinnati, there can be no doubt in the mind of any one as to its importance, and the prospective value of the stock. Through running connections have been formed with all of those lines.

We also understand that a requisition has been made by the director for $100,000 cash subscriptions, to be expended north of Peru, which has been apportioned as follows: $50,000 to the county of La Porte, $5,000 to Marshall and Fulton, each; $15,000 to Miami, and $25,000 to Cincinnatti. Interest at the rate of 10 per cent., in line of dividends will be paid on cash subscriptions from the time of payment till the road is put in operation. And an order has been made that, so soon after the subscription of the $100,000 in solvent cash subscriptions, as the state of the surveys will justify, that part of the road lying between Peru and La Porte, shall be put under contract for graduation and masonry, provided the approved real estate subscriptions for this part of the line, should amount by that time to at least $300,000.

We understand that a large proportion of the $75,000 cash subscription allotted to Cincinnatti and La Porte has already been subscribed.

We will endeavor to keep our readers advised from time to time, of the prospects and progress of this great work.

In our allusion to the proposed Logansport and Chicago road we intend, as we feel, no hostility to that road or to its projectors. If it can be built, we are far from throwing obstacles in its way, while we deem it right to call attention to what we consider the greatly superior advantages of this line.

Man Shot by a Young Woman.

One day last week, in South Carrolton, Muplenburgh county, Kentucky, a young lady of good character, daughter of Col. Wilson, having been calumniated by a young man, called upon him, armed with a revolver, accompanied by her father. The slanderer could not or did not deny his allegations, whereupon she fired, inflicting a dangerous if not a fatal wound in his throat.

A Large Ox.—A large ox passed by here last week, on his way from Muscatine, Iowa, to the World's Fair, which for size, is hard to beat. He measures in length 17 ft, 4 inches; 6 ft. 8 inches high; girth at brisket 10 ft.; girth back of shoulders 9 ft.; in flank 8 ft. His age is six years. His owner, Mr. Kincaid estimates his weight at about 3500 lbs. He has been raised upon the prairies, without extra care, until recently he was put up and fed with a view to his exhibition.—Mt. Carmel Republican.

Remarkable Case of Scrofula Cured by Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—The son of Mr. Alliday, 209 High street, Cheltenham, when three years old, was afflicted with Scrofula in the neck, and the disease increased so fearfully, that in four years he had ten ulcers on his body, besides a tumor between the eyes. The best medical treatment afforded him no relief, the blood being so corrupt that it was considered impossible to subdue the disease. At this crisis Holloway's Pills and Ointment were resorted to, with great success; for in two months the boy was soundly cured by their use, and he has continued well for the last three years.

LOCAL MATTERS.

INCENDIARIES AND BURGLARS.

The fires of Friday night indicate the presence in our city of a desperate set of incendiaries. We are informed that attempts have been made to enter several houses during the past week.—The police do all that can be done to discover them and their retreats, but the rogues are evidently old hands in rascality.—Our citizens should have a look out for fires, and be prepared to give burglars a warm reception.

Produce by Railroad.—The receipts of Produce by Railroad continue to be heavy. On Friday, they were as follows: Flour, 185 barrels; Wheat, 11,975 bushels; Corn, 2,516; Oats, 1,895; Barley, 1,280; Rye, 351;—total, 18,057 bushels. Of this amount, there were received from towns on Fox river, all of the Flour, 2,739 bushels Wheat, 2,227 do Corn, 1,822 do Oats, 880 do Barley, and 140 do Rye; the remainder was received from points west of Elgin.

Illinois River.—Messrs. Shepard & Houghteling received a telegraphic dispatch on Saturday, announcing a rise of 5 inches in the Illinois river. It will require eighteen to twenty-four inches additional to put the river in good navigable order, to admit any large movement of grain.

Chicago Custom House Revenue.—The amount of money received by the Collector of this port, during the month of August, was $41,900. This was principally on Railroad iron. The entire receipts of the season will probably exceed $300,000.

Meting out Justice.—Until the present year the jury system of this city and country, has not been a terror to rogues. We cannot say this, however, of the present system. Under it the best men of the city and county are put upon juries, and the verdicts they give are different from those formerly rendered by juries. Every convicted rogue may be sure of getting at least twice as long, as he would have got one year ago.

Fires.—The alarm yesterday morning at one o'clock was caused by the burning of the barns of L. D. Heard, and C. D. Spalds, between Madison and Washington streets. Loss $350.

The fire at 4 o'clock the same morning was on Polk st. in the immediate vicinity of the one at 9 o'clock that evening. A dwelling house and barn were consumed.

The incendiaries had a hot time of it during that night.

Receipts of Lumber.—The amount of Lumber received here from the Lumber regions, during the month of August, according to the Collector's Books, was 18,697,406 feet.

The number of Shingles and Lath received during the same time, according to the same evidence was 7,226,500 and 2,444,700 respectively.

In June the receipts of Lumber amounted to over 24,000,000 feet; and in July 4,000,000 less. The gradual falling off is owing to the low water in the rivers, which prevents lumber from being rafted down from the mills to the lake.

Great Receipts of Railroad Iron.—Between the 1st of August and 15th of September, less than seven weeks, 71,609 bars of Railroad Iron were received in this city, by vessels and steam craft. The whole amount weighed 11,974 tons,—making enough iron to lay down 130 miles of Railroad! The receipts of the next two months will be much larger in proportion.

Seventeen Years at Alton!—Douglas and Haines, indicted for shooting at officer Delany two weeks ago, while he was trying to arrest them, were convicted, on Saturday, and each sentenced to Alton for 12 years. They had previously been sentenced 5 years each for robbery. So two villians are disposed of for the next 17 years. Good! Let their fate be a warning to other rogues.

To Cabinet Makers.—We call attention to the advertisement of Owen's Patent Bedstead Machine. It is represented to possess superior merit.

Chicago Cutlery.—We wish to call the attention of our readers to the manufactory of Mr. G. Tollk, on Clark street, above Randolph, where will be found a very extensive assortment of every description of Cutlery, manufactured by Mr. T. and equal to the best imported articles in the line. We are now using a pair of scissors from this manufactory, which for beauty of finish and performance equal any Sheffield work.

Dean Swift proposed to tax female beauty, and to leave every lady to rate her own charms. He said the tax would be cheerfully paid, and very productive.

Murder.—On Wednesday last, a woman supposed to be named Harmon, was found floating in the Illinois river, at the mouth of Crow Creek in this county. A coroner's jury was summoned, and the result was that she came to her death by unknown hands. The examination brought to light the fact that she had received a heavy blow across the eyes and nose; there was a severe cut on the nose, and the left eye protruded from the head. From the clotted blood found upon her back and dress, it was evident she came to her death by intentional violence, and that she had lain upon her back after the murder, and before she was thrown into the river.

Although there was no certain information as to the person who inflicted the deadly blow, yet from the evidence before the jury, strong suspicions were entertained that she was murdered by her husband. It appears that Harmon and his wife, believed to be said deceased, were employed upon a canal boat, and that some days prior to the finding of the body, they both left—drunk and in a quarrel—in a skiff, at Spring Creek bar. The supposition is that they came on down to the mouth of Crow Creek, and there that the fatal blow was there given.—Lacon Gazette.

Some workmen engaged the other day in sawing a locust log in Poughkeepsie, found a large toad snugly secreted in the centre, which was alive, and weighed ½ pound. The log is perfectly sound, and is supposed to be one hundred years old.

TRADE AND COMMERCE

CHICAGO MARKET.

Office of the Chicago Daily Tribune, Saturday evening, Sept. 17.

Receipts of Produce by Canal and Railroad, since our last amount to about [illegible] bushels of grain, of all descriptions. By teams, there was a falling off, as there usually is at the close of the week.—The Produce market was very quiet to-day, and there appears to be a better understanding between buyers and sellers at the depot. Wheat became steady, and went off freely. Corn is a shade heavier, but only on account of advancing rates of freights. Oats declined, and sales were limited to small lots.—Barley and Rye were also a shade heavier. [illegible]
